

History of St Wulstans

Talk: Friday 19th June at 7:30 pm
Upper Welland Methodist Hall
Entry £2 per head
Refreshments available

Walk: Sunday 21st June at 2:30 pm
Meet at Nature Reserve Entrance

St Wulstan's Hospital was a major part of life in Upper Welland and the surrounding area from 1943 to 1986. It was variously a US Army Hospital, a TB Hospital and a Psychiatric Hospital. The site opened as a Nature Reserve in 2007.

On Friday 19th June there will be illustrated talk given by Bronwen Williams on the history of the Hospital and site.

On Sunday 21st June Graham George will lead a walk, lasting about one hour around the major features of the Hospital.

Look for future events on www.upperwelland.co.uk